

Addictive Lunacy (Compulsions Book 1)

Calum Alexander lived his life one way. With purpose and moderation. Everything was set in place and everything happened according to a plan. That is, until his picture perfect engagement falls apart and his crazy brother Lucas gets him to agree to a night out. Calum is left to fend for himself when Lucas decides to bail, and fend for himself he will need to. A vivacious and obviously young Livana Payne catches his attention and before he knows what's going on, they end up talking. By the end of the night, Calum is on fire for the impish girl who managed to ignite an inferno within him. Yes, she's twelve years younger and the complete opposite of what he'd imagined in his life, but he hungers for her in a way that's frightening. Drunk and surprisingly out of control, he's dead set on his need to have her. But the moment he accidentally lets it be known that he's recently single, Livana is having none of it. There is no way she's getting involved with a man who just broke up with his fiancée. No, they were going to have to wait. Calum's need for her somehow kept growing. As the days went by and he got to know her more, Livana seemed to be stealing all of his sanity. As much as she wants to wait it quickly becomes obvious to Calum that he's losing his grip to the monster she'd awakened within him. He's about to lose control and when he does, he knows there's going to be nothing gentle about what he'll end up doing to her ...
