

Imagining Ourselves: Global Voices from a New Generation of Women

Presenting the photography, paintings, poetry, fiction, songs, and essays of 105 young women from fifty-seven countries, Imagining Ourselves captures the energy of the first global generation of women. From Nasra Abubakar, a Somali camel-farmers daughter who is the first in her family to go to college to Anita Khemka, who reflects on the generation gap between yesterdays and today's teenage women in urban India, the young women in this book will inspire and encourage you to take action to transform your own life and the world around you. Enlightening, uplifting, challenging, and funny, Imagining Ourselves demonstrates the power of each individual life and the collective power of today's generation of women as a whole.
